THOSE GREEN UNIFORMS.

Pleas for a Different Park Police

I write to urge a change in the color of the uniform now worn by the fine body of men so faithfully guarding our magnificent city parks. For several years the present noyance, not only to the wearers, but to every thinking individual with good taste, and a return to the regulation blue would meet with general approval. The suit now in use is of a very ugly shade of green, and although the men are required to pay a generous price for it, there has not been one issue of the uniform which has withstood the abuse of the elements, and even before the cloth has been worn a few months the color has faded, until the use-ful park policemen have turned gray, even in the prime of life. Every true American, either by birth or by adoption, loves "the blue," and as the good taste of those who suggested it, and also the test of years has suggested it, and also the test of years has proven that it is the best color for the army, the navy and the Marine Corps, as well as for the uniforming of bodies of men like policemen, firemen, railway employes and others, it does not seem that any other color should be allowed to supercede it. The park policemen have any other color should be allowed to supercede it. The park policemen have patiently borne the ridicule repeatedly heaped upon the ugly green uniform that the orders of a superior official compelled them to wear, accepting in good spirit the titles of "grasshoppers," "katydids," "greenhorns," "locusts," "greenies," "pickles" and others uncomplaining, even though their own good sense must have convinced them that invidious criticism was really in order. As your valuable paper is always earnest in your valuable paper is always earnest in its support of those who deserve and need support, I beg your good offices to secure the correction of an error against popular taste, which has long since been convincing. and, as suggested by a correspondent in your issue of June 9, a return to "a neat-fitting uniform of blue with brass buttons."

M. V. BENNER.

I wish to add mine to the protests now being made against the park policemen being compelled to wear that hideous green uniform any longer. When it was adopted I can imagine why this color was selected. As the duties of the officers confine them to the public reservations it was no doubt two beautiful Indian worked tablecloths from the bride's brother, Professor Town, M.A., of Mussoree College, India; an exquisite pair of lace pillow shams and sheet cover from Mrs. Stansfeld, Teneriffe, and a seven-room residence from the groom's mother, which the happy couple hope soon to occupy.

thing but an imposing appearance. It is not wonder that the men keep to the unfrequented walks as much as possi avoid meeting any one they know. Hood was an outlaw and a breaker of laws, and to clothe our finest in a uniform model-ed after his is not in keeping with the fit-ness of things. I succeed the hear that the ness of things. I sincerely hope that the authorities will see the ridiculous figure that the officers cut in their greenish-brown
